Dear Parents/Guardians,

Well, the weather finally turned, into full on Autumn showers and some of the children and I were caught out without a coat at home time this week. Can you remind the children to pack a coat each day even if the weather looks ok in the morning – I have now locked one away in the cupboard so that I don’t get caught out myself.

The children are now writing trip advisor reviews for some hotels that they have imagined they have stayed in. Most of the reviews they have written are quite scathing – they clearly have high expectations.

Spires continue to support us in our PE and, I may be biased but, I think the Monkey Puzzles are bound to be Mr Coop’s favourite group as their behaviour is always superb in these thoroughly enjoyable sessions.

In RE, we are looking at the life of Moses and next week we will be examining the key moments in the story of his life that may have prepared him as to be a leader.

In maths, the curriculum is moving on to fractions. Some homework has been set on line on MyMaths. We have checked the logins of any one that said they had a problem and their accounts are now working.
